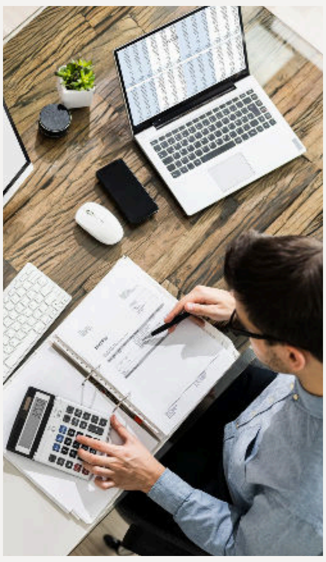
FAQ'S



When do I need to Register for VAT?

VAT Registration is mandatory for any entity who earns more than R1 million over the course of 12 consecutive months. Any entity that's required to register for VAT is referred to as a Vendor by SARS. A vendor is any person or entity that is required to register for VAT or that voluntarily registers for VAT and is liable to charge VAT on the goods and services they supply. It is compulsory to register for VAT within the first 21 days after you've hit that R1 million mark.

Effective 1 April 2026, the voluntary VAT registration threshold in South Africa increased to R120,000 in taxable supplies per annum (up from R50,000). Businesses with taxable supplies exceeding this amount, but below the R2.3 million compulsory threshold, can voluntarily register if they meet specific conditions, such as having made taxable supplies in the past, carrying on specific activities, or acquiring a business as a going concern. Some organisations, including non-profits and government agencies, as well as individuals involved in agricultural and mining activities, are eligible to register for VAT despite the R50 000 threshold, should they meet the industry-specific criteria.

How does VAT work in South Africa?

Value-Added Tax, commonly known as "VAT", should not be confused with "Income Tax". VAT is an indirect taxation on the value added to goods and services by Suppliers and Vendors in the economy.

South African Companies that are registered for VAT must charge an additional 15% on the prices of their products and services. Most expenses will then be VAT deductible, such as rent, telephone, consumables, advertising, and stock (depending on what VAT was paid on these expenses). The difference will then be paid over to SARS or claimed back from SARS
